

Podiatry and foot care supports are supports to help treat and manage conditions that affect your feet, ankles and legs. The Australian health system may provide podiatry and foot care supports. We can only fund these supports if they're related to your disability.

These NDIS supports might include specialised shoes or funding to treat your foot problems. Podiatry and foot care are important if you have a disability that affects sensation to your feet.

Note:

- When we say 'your plan', we mean your NDIS plan.
- As part of the recent changes to the NDIS laws we are moving towards a new framework for planning. Rules need to be developed for this new framework. We're working on how and when we'll introduce these changes.

Until then, the information in this Our Guideline is about our 'old framework' for planning, which includes the legislative changes that became operational when the law commenced. All current plans will be known as 'old framework' plans, and we will continue to develop these until all participants have transitioned to the new framework.

Browse the guideline using the links or download a copy:

- Podiatry and foot care supports \(PDF 143KB\)
- Podiatry and foot care supports \(DOCX 67KB\)

What do we mean by podiatry and foot care supports?

What help can you get to manage foot care through the health system or other services?

How do we decide what podiatry and foot care supports we fund?

What types of podiatry and foot care supports do we fund?

How do you get podiatry and foot care supports in your plan?

What happens after you have podiatry and foot care supports in your plan?

You might also be interested in

Disability-related health supports

Mainstream and community supports

Diabetes management supports

Would we fund it – Specialised footwear

What does NDIS fund?

This page current as of 28 April 2025