

Once you've met with your local area coordinator, you'll have the information and tools to start to make connections in your community.

You can check the information we gave you when you need to refer to:

- your goals
- the steps you want to take to work towards your goals
- where to find information to build your community connections.

While you're connecting with your community, you may decide you want to apply to the NDIS. Your local area coordinator can support you to gather the right information and evidence to work out if the NDIS is right for you.

Your local area coordinator will be available to support you with general questions, help you find information and help you find local programs and activities.
